

Jenna L. Hahn, M.D.

I am committed to providing patient-centered care, encouraging active patient participation in choosing personalized treatment plans. Joining Primary Care Associates of Appleton was a natural decision due to the supportive and team-oriented environment fostered by the group of doctors and kind staff.

My choice of family medicine as a specialty stems from my enjoyment of caring for patients across all life stages. I believe in addressing the health needs of the entire family unit, building enduring relationships along the way. I am passionate about considering socioeconomic factors that impact healthcare, actively working to address barriers and ensure equitable care for all.

My goal is to offer comfort and support throughout a person's healthcare journey. I am dedicated to patient-centered, compassionate care, and forming lasting connections with individuals and families while staying abreast of medical advancements to deliver the best possible healthcare experience.
